Foreign Rights Catalogue

Dear colleagues around the world,

Since the publication of our last Foreign Rights Catalogue, a lot has happened at Ernst Klett Sprachen. With the development of our own digital learning platform allango, we have taken a big step into the future, with many benefits for teachers and students.

allango is our new platform for easy language learning and teaching. The browser-based solution offers a wide range of digital supplements to our book titles and much more!

On the product level, we would like to draw your special attention to Die Miniprofis (page 10), our new German course for students from the age of 6. This new textbook series is perfectly adapted to the requirements of children of this age and their need for playful activities and movement. They like to sing, do handicrafts and paint and above all they love rhymes and rhythms. All this is considered in Die Miniprofis, so that the children experience language with all their senses.

The established and successful textbook series Die Deutschprofis (page 13) is the ideal continuation of this new course, so that we can now offer a continuous chain of textbooks for young learners.

Another highlight in this year's program is our new Italian course for adults Fantastico. As the title suggests: it is simply fantastic!

We invite you to look for yourself, browse through our catalogue and let yourself be inspired. If you would like reading copies or further information on the titles, please do not hesitate to contact us.

For a meeting at the Frankfurt Book Fair please contact e.kienzle@klett-sprachen.de.

We look forward to seeing you.

With kind regards,

NEW

Robert Bosch (A2-B1)
(1861-1942) For many, everyday life is unthinkable without Bosch products: be it a refrigerator, a drill or a spark plug in a car. This book introduces the famous engineer, looks at the company history and asks how entrepreneurship and the common good can be connected.

NEW

Rudolf & Adi Dassler (A2-B1)
This book introduces Rudolf (1898-1974) and Adi Dassler (1900-1978) who once started their shoe production in a small workshop in Herzogenaurach, Bavaria. They brought it to two world-famous companies through their own love of sports, progressive thinking and competitive spirit: PUMA and adidas.

NEW

Ludwig van Beethoven (A2-B1)
The music of Ludwig van Beethoven (1770-1827) is still world-famous today. He was convinced that he was creating it not only for the present, but for the future. This book tells his tragic life story, set against the background of his progressive hearing loss.

Robert Koch (A2-B1)
(1843-1910) was the founder of modern bacteriology. He revolutionised medicine in many areas. This book introduces the Nobel Prize winner in medicine, travels into the world of bacteria and viruses, and concludes with a look at the current topic of epidemics and pandemics.

Margarete Steiff (A2-B1)
(1847-1909) is not only the "mother" of the teddy bear with the "button in ear" that is known all over the world, but also Germany's first female entrepreneur. Her small sewing workshop quickly developed into a company that is still world famous today.

Carl Benz (A2-B1)
Even today, it is impossible to imagine our everyday life without the car. Its success story began in 1886 in Mannheim, Germany, with the patent motor car of Carl Benz (1844-1929). This book introduces the world famous inventor, shows the exciting history of the automotive development and looks into its climate-friendly future.

Angela Merkel (A2-B1)
was Germany's first female chancellor. This reader looks at her political career, shows how she has mastered the crises of our time and concludes with the topic of women in Germany. This is because it is still not a foregone conclusion in Germany that women pursue a path like her – whether in politics or in business.

NEW

English for a Critical Mind
This book outlines what language teaching for social justice entails. It is intended for teachers who want to develop their language teaching practices in democratic, participatory, and social justice oriented directions.

allango

NEW

Overt Teaching
Argues that successful learning is dependent on learners being actively involved in the learning process. Not only do learners need to be aware of what they are learning and why, but their involvement in the discussion of their own success is critical.

English is Context
Takes the reader on a journey across the history of language in context, offers activities and reflection on pragmatics in regard to the teacher, the learner and both together.

Teaching English as a Lingua Franca
Authoritative analysis of why and how English is used as an international language and an argument for teaching it differently. The authors reformulate EFL as ELF (English as a Lingua Franca) - the way language is now used.

Teaching English to Pre-Primary Children
Focus on pre-primary education of children who are not attending formal schooling. Ensures that the first language learning experience is a positive one which paves the way for a life-long journey into language learning.

Teaching Lexically
Shows what a lexical view of language looks like: Grammar and vocabulary are both taught better in combination, context is absolutely central and classrooms need to be input-rich; and input needs to be useful.
