Your turn!

1 Vocabulary

Make a copy of the checklist for each student. Hand out the checklists. Divide students into groups of two. Tell students to match the English words to the German words. Ask students to add words to the list that they already know. Check solutions in class.

2 I packed my suitcase...

Set up a circle of chairs, so that there is a chair for every student. Each student takes along his/her checklist.

The first student starts off the game by saying:

"I packed my suitcase and I packed a hat."

Then the second student repeats the same phrase and adds a new item:

"I packed my suitcase and I packed a hat and some games."

The third student does the same:

"I packed my suitcase and I packed a hat, some games and my hiking boots."

The game continues like that. Each student adds something to the suitcase and repeats all of the items that the other students have put in the suitcase. If a student forgets an item or mixes up the items, the game starts from the beginning.

Variation 1

To make the game a bit more challenging, all items that are packed into the suitcase, have to be listed in alphabetical order. This makes finding an item trickier but memorizing the items easier:

"I packed my suitcase and I packed a bikini and a camera."; "I packed my suitcase and I packed a bikini, a camera and a first aid kit, ..." and so on...

Variation 2

Play the game as a fun, interactive get-to-know activity. The first student says his/her name and an item which starts with the same letter:

"My name is Barbara and I packed my suitcase and I packed a beach towel."

The next student says his/her name, repeats the sentence and adds another item, which starts with the same letter as his/her name, and so on.

3 Be creative!

You can vary this game in all kinds of ways. Instead of packing things that you need on your next vacation, you can pack all kinds of other things: free-time activities; things you would take to a deserted island; things you need for a picnic at the beach and many others. Be as creative as you can!

Tip

By the way: You can use the checklist to get yourself organized for your next trip. Packing your suitcase never has been easier!
